DO'S & DON'TS FOR DUBAI:

- + Dress smartly, particularly if meeting a business acquaintance or attending an upscale dinner invitation.
- + When meeting with locals, punctuality is considered of paramount importance. Lateness is considered an insult.
- + Be polite, overly so. You will not offend anyone by being over effusive but you may offend them by not seeming grateful or polite enough.
- + In any transaction the key is not to become flustered or angry. Anger will be answered with anger and excitement with excitement - and you will lose face. You can always walk away from a deal leaving honours intact.
- + Physical contact isn't always appreciated, so back slapping, hugging etc should probably be avoided. A handshake or a small bow suffices.
- + The elderly are venerated and you should endeavor to make allowances for them before yourself on public transport and generally when out and about in the city.
- + Tipping is widespread but not excessive. At a restaurant, add 10% or so to the bill generally, but less if there is a service charge included (but still add something). Taxi drivers will expect a small addition to the fare, and hotel staff also appreciates tips.
- + Smoking is unlikely to be a problem - unless, possibly, you are a non-smoker.

BAGGAGE

- + Please tag your bag for easy identification
- + Extra care to be taken of your baggage in crowded places like restaurant and sightseeing spots
- + Please carry very light luggage with you to avoid excess baggage charges
- + Take care of your own baggage while check-in and check-out at the airport and hotel,

We hope that the offer will meet with your approval. You are requested to confirm at the earliest so that we can block the rooms & other arrangements on a firm basis.

Please feel free to contact us for any further queries and clarifications.

Assuring you the best of services at all times

Thanks and Regards
